

Invensys User Conference 2013

BY LUIGI DE BERNARDINI | FRI OCT 18 2013

“Software Revolution Starts Now” was the slogan of the Invensys 2013 Software User Conference just finished in Dallas, TX. More than 1.000 attendants met during three intense days full of general, informative and technical sessions to discuss about trends in industrial software industry and of the top standard collaboration level in operations. A ton of announcements of new products, new features and new releases was done during the conference to illustrate the evolution path of Invensys Software portfolio, that focus on solving the automation problems and managing the operations in the most possible modern and integrated way.

